True Brings Mise En Place to Refrigerator Drawers With Drawer Pan Kit
Stainless Steel Inserts Add New Dimension of Productivity

ST. LOUIS, MO – French for “put in place,” “mise en place” is as much a personal philosophy for chefs as it is an organizing principle. To practice mise en place is to gather and arrange necessary ingredients and tools, keeping the cooking space uncluttered and balanced; a harmony of chef, tools, ingredients, and space. True Refrigeration®, the leading choice of top chefs, hotels, beverage providers and discriminating homeowners for more than 70 years, has applied this mindset to its Undercounter Refrigerator Drawers by offering the new Drawer Pan Kit.

These elegant stainless steel inserts mimic the ingredient stations that top chefs use in their commercial kitchens, allowing for an almost Zen-like connection to the art of food preparation and home entertaining. The Drawer Pan Kit can hold up to six different ingredients at once, making elements such as freshly chopped vegetables, meats, sauces, relishes and par-cooked ingredients instantly accessible.

“Home chefs and designers continue to use commercial kitchens for inspiration due to their efficiency and smart use of space,” said True Director of Sales and Marketing Steve Proctor. “The new Drawer Pan Kit for our refrigerator drawers helps you be more organized in your kitchen by adopting the mise en place philosophy that is used by so many commercial chefs.”
