

Faber Press Inquiries:

Matthew Avery – Marketing Communications Manager, Faber US & Canada
508-358-5353
Matthew.avery@faberspa.com

ALMO Press Inquiries:

Jennifer Chapple Ingram - Marketing Specialist
P: JIngram@almo.com
215-698-4000 ext. 4330

March 7, 2017 – Faber’s New Ceiling Mounted Stratus Redefines Luxury

The Stratus, Faber’s new family of ceiling mounted ventilation, is now available for order in North America. The Stratus’ elegant glass or stainless steel panel design, powerful extraction and LED lights, fits in the ceiling above your cooktop. A truly versatile design that will work for wall or island installations and is available in 36” or 48” widths. Please visit the Almo Premium Appliance at the Architectural Digest Show, Booth #271 on March 16-19, 2017, Pier 92 & 94 in NYC to learn about the new Stratus.

The Stratus is equipped with a 400 cfm motor and a perimetric panel which greatly improves extraction and at the same time reduces perceived fan motor noise by 25%. The hood can be operated by the 4 speed electronic soft touch control board or by the included remote control which makes this hood fully ADA compliant. For advanced settings, the Stratus, has a 24 hour anti-pollution mode, 10 minute intensive speed setting and 30 minute auto shut off. Faber’s latest innovation is sure to please the cook, the designer and the installer.

Please visit www.faberonline.com to view Faber’s full product line.

ABOUT FABER

Faber the global leader in kitchen ventilation, a part of the $2.2 Billion Franke Group, Kitchen Systems division, has been producing high-end kitchen range hoods since 1955 in Fabriano, Italy. For almost 60 years Faber has continued to manufacture with attention to detail, engineering excellence and fine European design. From inserts to wall, island and value / designer canopies, there is a style to fit almost every kitchen design.