ROHL Reimagines One of Italy's Most Architecturally Inspired Plazas into New Faucet
New ROHL Italian Campo Kitchen Series Makes an Appearance at the Architectural Digest Design Show

Irvine, CA – March, 2018 – Long regarded for discovering authentic luxury decorative plumbing and hardware designs from around the world for the kitchen and bath industry, ROHL introduces its newest kitchen faucet design, the Italian Campo Kitchen Series. Crafted in Northern Italy and named for Piazza del Campo in Sienna, Italy, the ROHL Italian Kitchen Campo Series celebrates the famous systems of conduits that bring water to the area. In the 14th century miles of tunnels and aqueducts were built, delivering water to the famous Font Gaia – or Fountain of the World. The Campo handle and escutcheon design emulates the valve/stem combination used in the building of industrial conduit systems.

First introduced in 2017 as a bathroom faucet, the popularity of the Campo design spawned the creation of a complementary kitchen design - the Italian Kitchen Campo Deck Mount U-Spout 3-Leg Bridge Faucet with Sidespray (A3558). The Italian Campo Bridge Kitchen Faucet is available with Industrial Metal Wheel Handles (A3358IW) or Industrial Metal Lever Handles (A3358IL), as well as a variety of finishes including Polished Chrome, Italian Brass, Matte Black, Polished Nickel, Satin Nickel and Tuscan Brass. An Unlacquered Brass finish is also available by special order.

Attendees to the show can get a look at the new ROHL Italian Kitchen Campo in the House Of Rohl booth, 439.
