VICTORIA + ALBERT ON DISPLAY AT ARCHITECTURAL DIGEST DESIGN SHOW

The British brand brings their products to NYC in The House of ROHL, Booth 439.

(Ladson, SC – March 2, 2018) Victoria + Albert Baths are excited to present a few of their newest bath collections at the 2018 ARCHITECTURAL DIGEST DESIGN SHOW. The show is set for March 22-25 at PIERS 92 & 94 in New York City and as a first time exhibitor, Victoria + Albert will be showing a variety of new collections inside The House of ROHL: Booth 439.

Now in its 17th year, the Architectural Digest Design Show draws approximately 40,000 design aficionados to interact with incredible design displays from more than 400 brands. Being displayed at the show will be the brand's popular new freestanding Vetralla tub. The deep and double-ended Vetralla is ideal for modern bathrooms and at just 58 ¾" long, is perfect for bathrooms where space is at a premium. The iconic Tombole 8 bath rack, designed to hold two wine glasses and a towel, will be shown alongside the Vetralla in a white finish.

Also on display will be Victoria + Albert's Lavello 114 Glass in a Gloss White finish. Created by award-winning product designers Meneghello Paoletti Associati, the wall-hung vanity features a glass-top to pair with Victoria + Albert's range of vessel basins. The stunning new Gloss White finish is obtained by a special catalyzed spray paint that is applied in multiple coats for a long-lasting finish. The brand's ios 54 basin in a Anthracite finish will also be showcased. This neatly compact basin offers customers the added benefit of taking up significantly less counter space without compromising on design.
