xer0 group Launches Furniture Line
Premiered Exclusively at the Architectural Digest Design Show: Booth M1101

xer0 group, a woman-owned and operated design and construction firm, is proud to launch its' furniture line at the 18th Annual Architectural Digest Design Show. xer0 group furniture is a line of unique custom furniture, lighting and home accessories offered with a quick turnaround at cost-accessible pricing. The line was initially established by the designer to fill a void in her own home and those of her clients. xer0 group is now thrilled to make their unique design-forward pieces available to the public.

At the show, xer0 group will be showcasing a select number table designs, as well as a 3D art installation. A true show-stopper is the Papillon Dining table with a custom exotic knifed-edge marble top. The table is elegant, yet masculine, and is made of cold rolled steel that is then clear coated. The marble top options are limitless, making this a totally customizable table, perfect for those who crave a distinctive look. Additionally, xer0 group will showcase the Rebecca table, which has a brass base with a marble top that can be manufactured as a coffee table, end table or as a desk. The Rebecca table is truly out of this world. The Flutra Wall Panels shown in the booth are hand painted, plasma-cut butterflies applied to Maya Romanoff wall coverings. They are easy to install and can be shipped anywhere around the world. For a more tailored approach, xer0 group offers custom 3D art installations.

xer0 group also manufactures lighting, additional tables and small accessories that can be seen and purchased through their website at <https://www.xer0group.com/shop>. Visit them at the Architectural Digest Design Show, in New York City on March 21-24 at Pier 94 in booth M1101 to see more work and to learn about their process.
